RETIRED RESEARCH LABS

Moral Research Laboratory (MoRL)

MoRL is a (virtual) research laboratory that investigates the mental processes underlying morally-motivated judgment and choice, with a focus on consumer behavior and implications for public policy. The lab’s theoretical base is in the interdisciplinary field of judgment and decision making, with an emphasis in social and cognitive psychology. Co-founded with Dan Bartels (University of Chicago).

Judgment, Emotion, Decision, and Intuition Laboratory (JEDI)

JEDI investigates the interrelation between people’s judgment, emotion, and decision making in everyday life, as well people’s intuitions about these processes. The lab’s theoretical and methodological base is in social and cognitive psychology, with emphases in the interdisciplinary fields of consumer behavior, emotion, and judgment and decision making. Co-founded with Leaf Van Boven (University of Colorado).
